CAN'T FIND MEN WHO WANT WORK

Ten Wanted at Springbrook But Only Two Take Jobs. Want Something Easy.

Supt. Frank Murphy of the Indiana free employment bureau, and George Hess, assistant superintendent, worked valiantly Wednesday forenoon in an attempt to secure 10 men to work on the race track at Springbrook park. At a late hour two men had been secured while a score of others sat complacently about the court house square and waited for something easier.

There has been demand for a large number of men at Springbrook recently for the reason that the work of completing the track has been delayed and must wait until the weather is largely shoveling and is not too heavy for the average man. The men who are secured to go on the job are mostly those who are floating through the city in quest of work.

When Hess made his first round of the court house Wednesday morning in an attempt to meet the call for men he made the offer to 19 men seated on the retaining wall along the Washington st. side of the square. Of these 19 there were three who apparently were unfit physically to handle a shovel. The remaining 16 considered it a joke that they should be offered work at shoveling.

A few showed interest in the prospects of work until they learned that they would have to handle a shovel and then they suddenly discovered humor in the situation or else recalled that they had been offered a job at Studebakers and would have to wait for that.

ALL PLAYGROUNDS WILL TAKE PART

Results of Work Will be Shown in Play Festival at Oliver Grounds.

A fitting climax to the close of the playgrounds next Saturday will be a less elaborate scale than the big festival the following week. They will consist of drills and dances and playground games, and from among the best will be chosen the state that are to compose the festival, the first ever held in South Bend. Nearly 1,500 boys and girls will take part.

The playground exhibition for the Oliver grounds will be held next Sunday the exhibitions for the other playgrounds being held the preceding day. An average of 200 boys and girls from each of the five playgrounds will take part in the exhibition.

Will Show Results.

Some of the most novel features introduced in the exhibitions which are designed to show the work accomplished by the recreation committee during the last year will be the folk dances from the Sample st. grounds, dumbbell and wand drills and folk dances from the Coquillard grounds, the highland fling and the folk dances as done in the old country, reproduced as exactly as possible with the costumes used there, will be an attractive feature. The balance of the program in the Sample st. playground will consist mainly of athletic events.

An elaborate program for the Laurel exhibition consisting of many athletic games and competitive track events, interspersed with dances that have been taught by the playground directors, has been prepared.

All of the programs have not as yet been announced in full. The Oliver program for next Sunday will be ready tomorrow, as will the Kaley. The individual programs for the Sample st. and Coquillard have already been announced, while the Laurel program will be found below.

Will Mark the Close.

Municipal Recreation Director F. B. Barnes is making big preparation for the playground festival a week from Sunday. This year marks the close of the first season of playgrounds, and the festival is given to show South Bend people what has been accomplished. "All of the playgrounds during the last year have been cabled by Ambassador Page, agree specifically on the following facts:

PETROGRAD REPORTS OF CANAL BATTLE DENIED

Berlin Says No Warship Nor Cruiser Was Lost in the Engagement in Riga Gulf.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—Petrograd reports of a big naval engagement in the Baltic resulting in great German losses, which the Russian press says an official statement issued here today. "Neither a large German ship nor a cruiser was damaged or sunk."

The statement repeats the official German report issued Aug. 21, and denies that the Germans attempted to land troops near Pernau and continues as follows:

"Torpedo boats were ordered to cover the blockade of the port (Riga). The artillery combat which developed with the port land batteries resulted in the silencing of port battery. The land batteries were successfully bombarded."

"One Russian steamship and six sailing vessels were caught and sunk. The ships captured according to the Russian report were steamers sunk by us in order to block the channel."

WILL BRING FULL REPORT OF SINKING

man sources that this is now the policy of the German admiralty.

Is Taking Initiative.

White house and state department officials agree that Germany in taking initiative has changed her former attitude of indifference. Carried to a logical conclusion, it is believed that cordial relations easily can be continued. But the German newspaper defense of the sinking of the Arabic as a "great ammunition carrier laden with gold to purchase more" causes for the attempt may be made at justification.

And it can be stated on authority second only to the president that any attempt at justification will be followed immediately by the recall of Ambassador Gerard.

Only explanation that explains, or a disavowal and apology, with promise of reparation, will satisfy the United States. It is held by the administration that the time has come when a positive position must be maintained regardless of cost if the world influence of the nation is to be retained.

No Ground For Action.

"If it should develop, as has been hinted in German official quarters, that the Arabic was sunk by a torpedo intended for the Dunsley, there will be no grounds for action by this government, although stringent damages might be asked for the loss of two American lives. But it is likely that the administration will ask that the German government should make good and say whether it has accepted the American viewpoint regarding the conduct of its submarine warfare."

All of the affidavits from Arabic survivors, summaries of which have been cabled by Ambassador Page, agree specifically on the following facts:

"The Arabic was torpedoed; no submarine was seen; no warning of an kind was given; the Arabic was neither attempted to escape nor to ram a submarine."
